Feeling informed about and engaged in my child's education

In our parent communication survey launched Feb 2018, we noted the following celebrations and actions:

Key Celebrations:

1. All parents attend parent's evenings, with the vast majority agreeing strongly that they were useful and relevant.
2. Letters home, texts and emails are informative and useful (100%)
3. Head teachers newsletters are useful and relevant (79% strongly agree)
4. The vast majority of parents feel comfortable approaching the school staff and governing body (78%)
5. A large majority of parents feel they receive guidance that helps them support their child's learning (70%)

Key Actions:

1. Working towards improvements on the school website to provide information on calendar dates and details of school events, as well as what your child(ren) is / are doing in class.
2. Review of the PTFA structure to increase support - further improvements needed
3. Set up parent forum to have a say in how school requirements are best implemented and communicated with school community. - curriculum launch Term 4 provides the ideal platform for this initiative to start.

We would like to know how any of these changes have impacted your view of how we communicate with you. Please answer the following statements:

19. Our Male Friday and Female Friday events celebrating Mother's and Father's day have been well attended and enjoyed by the school community. Moving forward, would you prefer to continue the specific 'male' / 'female' day celebrations or have 2 open 'special people' days, which would be an open invitation for any special person to join the child on that morning. *

Mark only one oval.

- Continue Male and Female specific events
- Replace with 2 open 'specific people' events
- I don't have an opinion either way

Parent Forum

In our communications survey parents responded that they would be keen to be involved with a parent forum. This year the school is looking to reshape how the curriculum is implemented in school.

20. Would you be interested in joining a forum to be part of those discussions? *
