Dear Parents and Carers

I am writing to inform you about our plans for schoolwork at home over the next two weeks.

Firstly, I would like to thank you all for your support of your children and the school during this very difficult time. I appreciate how hard it is to try to manage schoolwork, your own work and lockdown.

It has become apparent to me that teachers have been very diligent about setting work as requested but, because we have tried to reduce stress by having long deadlines, the work hasn't always been completed before the next task is set. This has led, in some cases, to students and parents feeling overwhelmed by the fact that they have a great deal of work to complete.

In order to help students, I have asked teachers not to set any more work until June 8th. This will give students time to catch up on any work that they have outstanding. Teachers will still be available to give feedback although I have asked them to ensure that they take Half Term week as a break. Any students that have finished the work set but wish to do more should contact their teacher for more work.

Please feel free to contact teachers for help, they will be happy to help with existing tasks but they will not be adding to the workload unless more work is requested.

Yours sincerely

Mr K Howard
