As you would have seen from the latest letter from Alun Williams yesterday, we are still as yet no clearer on when we are due to return to school but we are hoping to know more soon. The Trust is supporting us with a curriculum planning tool which will be a very helpful aid in the first few weeks when we do come back. It is also ensuring that we have everything we need to keep safe upon our return.

This week at home, Owl Class have continued to work on their project 'All about me' and Eagle Class have carried on planning a party. Thank you to all of you who have sent in photos, videos and timetables of what you have done; we have thoroughly enjoyed looking at what you have been up to so please keep sending them in. Mrs Smith, Ms Stafford and I have spoken to most parents now and I even had the treat of seeing some children in person when I was postman yesterday!

The first section this week is a lovely collection of photos from Owl Babies. They have been busy exploring, creating and having fun.

Some 'All about me' work

I love Squeaky Cats Adventures in Petlandia because it is about about my cats.
Someone else should read it because it is a fun story.
My favourite bit is when she takes a selfie on her meow phone for Instagram.
